The native forest has been cleared from the greater part of the farm, but a suitable portion, carefully tended, remains in wood for economical purposes, and to give a picturesque effect to the landscape. The eye ranges round three fourths of the horizon over a fertile expanse-bright with the cheerful waters of a rippling stream, a generous river, or a gleaming lake-dotted with hamlets, each with its modest spire-and, if the farm lies in the vicinity of the coast, a distant glimpse from the high grounds, of the mys-1,000 terious, everlasting sea, completes the pros-600 near enough to the village to be easily acces-500 sible to the church, the school house, the postoffice, the railroad, a sociable neighbor, or a 300 travelling friend. A few acres on the front, and on the sides of the dwelling, set apart to gratify the eye with the choicer forms of rural beauty, are adorned with a stately av-enue, with noble solitary trees, with graceful clumps, shady walks, a velvet lawn, a brook murmuring over a pebbly bed, here and there a grand rock, whose cool shadow at sunset streams across the field; all displaying in the real loveliness of nature, the original of those landscapes of which art in its perfection strives to give us the counterfeit presentment.
